

CANAL GRANDO

Bosco Viticultori is situated in Salgareda, at the heart of Eastern Veneto, a region renowned for its rich winemaking heritage and storied past. This area boasts iconic cities such as Venice and Treviso, both of which are central to Prosecco culture. Combining extensive expertise with modern technology, Bosco Viticultori is recognized for producing select, high-quality wines that highlight the unique characteristics of the local terroir. These wines are known for their distinctive, intense aromas and refined, delicate flavors.

Canal Grando, named after the famous Venetian canal, features DOC wines produced locally in the area between Treviso and Venice. The “Venezia DOC” designation guarantees quality and highlights a centuries-old winemaking tradition.

Pinot Grigio 2025

This is a very versatile wine, which can be served both as an aperitif and with seafood starters. Also ideal with fish-based pasta and risotto dishes, shellfish and either steamed or grilled fish.

Prosecco

100% Glera. The ideal partner for refined appetizers and delicate fish, white meats and fresh cheese dishes.
